'PLACE OF THE LION'

On the far Northern border of South Africa, adjacent to Botswana, lies the stark, enchanting beauty of the Groot Marico and South Africa's fourth largest game reserve.

During the 19th century, the main road from Cape Town to Bulawayo cut a path through the region and many traders, explorers, hunters, missionaries and the feared warrior, Mzilikazi, passed this way in the making of South African history.

It is here that TAU - Place of the Lion - is located in the heart of the 75,000 hectare Madikwe Reserve.

This Malaria-free reserve has been restored to its original rugged beauty and ecological diversity with the re-introduction of over 10,000 head of game.

All the "Big Five" - Elephant, Buffalo, Rhino, Lion and Leopard - now abound amongst the dramatic ridges of the Dwarsberg Mountains and Tshwene-Tshwene Hills. Steeped in history and with rock formations dating back some 2 650 million years, artifacts of the stone and iron ages are still to be found in the dust of the Groot Marico.
